HERNDON, VA, February 24, 1999 In a display of arrogance directed toward millions of rural Americans, Eddie Fritts, the CEO of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) and its chief Washington lobbyist, this week branded rural satellite dish owners as dishonest, and told them to use 1950=92s technology (off-air antennas) to get their network TV signals. His comments came during a press conference in Washington, DC that featured numerous attacks upon rural consumers.

SUMMARY: The House Commerce Committee is often where some

the biggest legislative battles get started. From deregulating telecommunications industry, to relaxing promotional the standards for drug companies, to changing the nation's health care laws, Commerce Committee members are often the subjects of intense industry lobbying Billy tell them to shove it where the sun don't shine. It is little wonder that they get so much money from some of the country's most powerful companies and that winning a seat on this committee is such a prize.
