

I would like to make my views known to the law making organization of the FCC concerning the use of public radio frequencies. I would like the ruling members to consider easing the restrictions to the public when operating on the CB 11 meter band. I feel there are too many rules governing the use of radio by the public. This is a free society and should treat the citizens that way. I am a licensed ham operator KCOGWI and I feel that both the Amateur Radio and CB rules are excessive and being unrepresentative of the wants and needs of the citizens of the US. I also feel that the rules continue to be enforced in this manner due to the grandfather mentality of the ham operators and just rewards for all the hard work they put in to getting their licenses. This is the wrong attitude. I ask that the 10 meter band be changed to a unlicensed frequency like the 11 meter band and that the 250 KM rule to the 11 meter band be lifted. I would also like to see additional frequencies added to the 11 meter band that would permit power useage in excess of the worthless 4 watts now allowed. Other countries allow these rules on 11 meters. It's time the free world leader joined the rest. Thanks for listening
