Main Street Purcell, Inc.

The Heart of Purcell

History of Main Street - A Tour Through the Past

The first to move to Purcell and start a business was J.M. Wantland who pitched a tent and filled it with groceries and general merchandise, which he sold.

The coming of the railroad through the territory played a big part in Purcell's development. In 1887, the town was established just before the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railroad, coming from the south through Indian Territory, met the Southern Kansas Railway, building its way from the north. Each company raced to be the first to build their tracks to Purcell, the meeting point. Two months before the railroad came through, two local ranchers Robert Jeremiah Love and a man named Sparks, employed Major Donovan, an engineer, to lay out the present town site. The town was originally plotted on a piece of brown wrapping paper, laying out only the first four blocks. Furrows were plowed to mark off streets and alleys. Commercial and residential lots were given away to those who applied for them before June of 1887. Purcell was an early day shipping town, complete with tent stores. The town of Purcell, Indian Territory was formed with around 200 residents on April 5, 1887 and named for E.B. Purcell, an early director of the Santa Fe Railroad. The rapid growth of the town must have been a surprise to its founders, as its original four blocks grew almost overnight in the largest shipping point in all of Indian Territory. With the building of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the Gulf, Colorado Railroads between Kansas and Texas, many new people easily moved into the area after its completion of Purcell Station on April 26, 1887. It opened at 5:00 in the evening when a northern train and a southern train met to switch their loads. With the combined asset of being the only town in the area and located on the railroad on the border between the Oklahoma and Indian Territories, the town grew swiftly.

The original downtown district existed on Canadian Street, running north and south, parallel to and on the hill above the railway. When fire destroyed these earliest frame buildings early in 1895, entrepreneurs began construction of the permanent brick buildings that exist today extending west on Main Street from Canadian. Many of the individuals best remembered for their roles in the development of Purcell's central business district intermarried with Chickasaw tribal members, and once they were listed on the tribal rolls they could own land and participate in the tribal government.

Run of 1889

Just before the Run of 1889, Purcell was filled with thousands of prospective settlers waiting to begin the run for land from the west bank of the South Canadian River. At the sound of the starting gun at noon on April 22, 1889 about 100,000 people madly raced across the river on horseback, in carriages, and wagons to stake their claims. At the same time, passenger trains left Purcell with thousands of claim seekers headed for Norman, Oklahoma City, and Edmond. The winter right before the Land Run of 1889, the town grew, but settled back down after the run.

Purcell was the largest shopping town until other towns built up (Norman, OKC??)

Purcell's business district was devastated in a large fire in 1895. This was usually the case with the wooden frontier towns and the buildings were rebuilt of brick permanent structures. Fire of 1895 originated on North side of Main at Star Dry Goods and north wind caused it to jump to the south side. Many buildings were destroyed.

In 1895, Purcell became the site of one of the 5 district courts in the Chickasaw Nation. The federal courthouse built of stone and brick on the northeast corner of Main and Canadian was one of the many buildings to survive the November 1895 town fire that destroyed most of the mainly wooden buildings in the business district, Main Street. Due to insurance coverage, rebuilding occurred promptly within the next few years.

The United States Court House in Purcell was a unique building, two stories high, the first of which is built of stone and the second of brick of superior quality. This institution brought in a great deal of business to the city, and annually disbursed $10,000.

In 1899 the Hocker Bridge was built. It was a wooden toll bridge that was a little over 1/2 mile long. It cost $15,000 to build. The toll cost for a passenger on foot or in a vehicle was 5 cents. A man on a horse was 10 cents. One horse, buggy, or vehicle and 1 person was 20 cents. A two-horse vehicle was 25 cents, as was a bicycle with a rider. And, a four-horse vehicle was 35 cents. The telephone lines were then attached to the bridge and electric nights were added. Then in 5 years (before it was paid for) it was washed away in the flood of 1904. After much planning, another toll bridge was built in 1911. This structure was made of steel and considered to be the world's longest bridge exclusively for wagon traffic; it was 3400 feet in length. In 1933, the bridge became toll free by a court decision. Then in 1937, the present bridge was built 32 feet wide, which is twice as wide as the old one, to handle Highway 77's increasing automobile traffic. It is located 2 blocks south of where the old bridge was.

Start with the River and the Sand Bar Saloon

Sand Bar Saloon was built shortly after the land opening in 1889 by Charley and Sam Lissauer. It was built just east of the middle of the river since Purcell was "dry". It was a crate-like structure on wooden pegs driven deep in the sand. The alcohol was supplied from the east side of the river that was "wet." It was nicknamed the Ark. There was a wooden boardwalk connecting the saloon to land. When someone from Purcell went to the saloon and bought liquor, they had to pour out the remainder of the bottle or drink it because they couldn't bring it into "dry" Purcell. So, many people drank it got so drunk from it that they couldn't make it back across the bridge. Many people fell off the bridge and some drown because of it. Then when crime and gunfighters began seeping into the city, naturally they came to the saloon and caused trouble, so, the owners hired a retired Texas ranger to guard the place. At one point there was a flood that washed the Ark down river 1/2 mile, but it was like no big deal. They simply brought it back, repaired it, and reopened it. But, in the flood of 1904, they weren't so lucky. A local farmer Bob Scott braved the waters with his horse to rescue the three men that were stuck in the Ark before it washed away. His horse could only carry two of them, so the owner who was there and the bartender were rescued while the customer waited for the farmer to return. However, when he did return, the Ark and the customer were gone. It was later rebuilt by Ray & Tom Farmer but was unprofitable because the novelty had worn off.

Next is the railroad

Freight Depot - built in 1887 torn down March 1947, then another depot was built at the bottom of the hill and was torn down in the mid-1980's.

Harvey House at Depot Hill

Harvey House - built in 1897 north of the depot end of Depot Hill. It was a social center with fine dining. It was built by Fred Harvey. Dress coats were required and meals were $.50. It closed in 1933 and was torn down in 1948.

Helena Hotel just west of Harvey House

Helena Hotel - Foot of Main St. at depot on south side of road, opened 1901

Santa Fe Hotel - at bottom of the hill on the south side

Society Building - Territorial Courthouse

Society Building Association at Main & Canadian was built in 1894 with a stone foundation 45 X 100 feet. It was two stories high with the bottom story to be an opera house and the upper-story to be the Odd fellows lodge room. It was sold in 1895 and became the Federal Courthouse.

Hydrogen Balloon at Courthouse

In 1893 there was a Hydrogen Balloon at the Federal Court House (Main & Canadian) as a promotion. It was extremely dangerous.

Brown's Opera House - Canadian Theater

Brown's Opera House - Well's Opera House - Canadian Theatre

Built by the Brown brothers, and had its Grand Opening Ball on Thursday, October 16, 1890. The opera stage was upstairs while the downstairs area was housed by various small businesses including a bank, harness store, drug store, and a jewelry store. There were 600 wooden chairs, which could be removed for dances. It brought many actors, operas, musicians, art exhibits, and boxing matches, as well as local activities such as church services, graduation, local theatrical groups, and balls. Some of the plays there included the "Taming of the Shrew" and "Romeo & Juliet." In the November 1895 fire that destroyed most of downtown Purcell, it was not totally destroyed because of the brick and stone structure, but did suffer some damage and was quickly repaired. In 1945, after a change of ownership, it was bought for $9000 and was converted into a deluxe movie theatre that seated 700 and included a balcony and named it the Canadian. It operated until 1982. With its closing in 1983, for the first time in 92 years, Purcell was without an entertainment center and ended an entertainment era in Purcell.

Ground Floor of Brown's Opera House

A) B.C. Clark Jewelry Store was one of those stores located in the ground floor of Brown's Opera House. The well-known jewelry store of Oklahoma City was first established at this location here in Purcell.

B) J.W. Norman, Jeweler

This was the oldest jewelry establishment in Purcell. They made everything from watches, jewelry, clocks, eyeglasses, rings, charms, and lockets out of both silver and gold. They were located in the front window of Jones Bros. Drug Store, which was also located on the ground floor of Brown's Opera House (Canadian Theater).

South Side of Main

Blanchard & Wood Emporium was located on the south side of Main. The main room was 25 X 125 feet and carried everything from clothes to groceries. It was a two-story building with lots of space, but it wasn't enough. There was another building on the west end of Main that was another storage space for the store.

North Side of Main

Dooley Theatre - 2 doors west of Tyler's Furniture, then it moved to where the Purcell Register is today and renamed the McClain. It was open until 1948

In 1935, Metro Theatre opened 4 doors west of Tyler's Furniture. It featured western and action movies. It was a reversed theatre meaning that you walked in with your back facing the screen.

Purcell Masonic Lodge No. 27 was organized November 2, 1887. The Masonic Lodge Building was constructed in 1899 after the former home of the lodge was destroyed in the Purcell fire of 1895.

Main & 2nd

Southeast Corner

In 1930, the Ritz Theatre was purchased by Levi Metcalf. Admission Price was 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults Saturday Kids Show was 3 cents and sometimes would let 1 child in for 1 egg and then they would sell the eggs at McElderry's Grocery Store. It is now American Abstract.

Northeast Corner

On April 18, 1889, just 4 days before the land run, the first bank in Indian Territory opened. It was called the Bank of Purcell. It was opened by George R. Beeler & Bros. Then it became the Bank of Commerce. In June 1892, it became the Chickasaw National Bank and they erected a fancy new 105 feet, two-story building of pressed brick and cut stone. The Chickasaw National Bank of Purcell was one of the most prosperous and thriving institutions of the entire western country, being under the management of A.D. Hawk, the President. It was capitalized on only $50,000. The stockholders were composed of wealthy business and cattlemen who are individually worth nearly 4 times more than the bank giving them wonderful prestige and unlimited credit. It is now McClain County National Bank.

Southwest Corner

In 1887 the frame 2-story Barnes Hotel was built on the SW corner of Main & 2nd. It burned in 1893. Then the frame 2-story Perry House was built. It burned in the fire of 1895. Then the Hotel Love was built. It was called "The Pride of Purcell" in one of the March 1896 editions of the Purcell Register. It is a brick three-story building with 63 rooms. It had steam heat, electric lights, and rooms were $2 a night. It was a favorite place for newlyweds to spend their honeymoon. Of the twelve hotels constructed between 1887 and 1901, only the Hotel Love is in existence today. It was placed on the National Register of Historic Places on December 7, 1995. It now houses Butler's Antiques.

A look at the Heart of Oklahoma

Located in the very Heart of Oklahoma and nestled in the bluffs overlooking the South Canadian River, the birthplace of Oklahoma, Purcell, has a unique and rich history which blends many cultures, industries and people into a city which can boast of a charming past while eyeing a progressive future.

Purcell's history dates back to 1887 when Purcell became an important commercial center with the coming of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad which, it's been said, brought Indians, ranchmen, and farmers from across the central plains to trade and ship their goods.

Named after local railroad director E. B. Purcell, the city was the site of a convention in September of 1893 at which delegates from across the state prepared the petitions to Congress asking for statehood. Fourteen years after this historic meeting, Oklahoma was admitted as the 46th state of the Union.

Since that time, Oklahoma and Purcell have grown hand-in-hand.

Purcell's promising future is rooted in the commerce and trade that began here over a century ago. Purcell is home to several manufacturing firms, antique malls, and a host of retail and specialty shops.

Its award-winning Main Street program, which is affiliated with both the Oklahoma and National Main Street Programs, is recognized as one of the top small-town programs in the state and was the first program of its size honored for helping to encourage downtown property owners to invest more than one million dollars in improvement projects to the city's historic central business district.

Along with the efforts of the Main Street Program, the City of Purcell, the Chamber of Commerce and the Purcell Economic Development Authority are aggressive partners in seeking new industry for the city and helping its current base of strong businesses expand, helping stimulate a vibrant local economy.

A Time to Play

Recreation and leisure are also a part of Purcell's attractive way of life. Golf, tennis, swimming and fishing are among the outdoor activities Purcell's residents enjoy in the comfort of their own city.

The city's 18-hole Brent Bruehl Memorial Golf Course is among the top municipal courses in Oklahoma. It includes a signature number-14 water hole that challenges even the best of golfers.

Annual fishing tournaments are a part of the action at the Purcell City Lake. The scenic lake includes a paved drive around it, numerous picnic areas, and the capacity for recreational vehicles.

Remembering the Past - Welcoming the Future

Anchored by its landmark antique shops, the downtown business district in Purcell is a source of pride for local residents and a destination of many tour buses.

From a renovated pre-statehood hotel and a remodeled historic theatre which house a pair of the many impressive antique shops to a downtown park which includes a genuine Santa Fe caboose and numerous retail shops, everything from greeting card to electronic equipment can be found.

Additional business districts throughout the city allow Purcell people the chance to "shop at home" and attract many shoppers who enjoy shopping in a small town.

Industry Friendly

In Addition to its retail outlets, Purcell is home to many industries looking for an attractive site for their growing businesses.

Located right on I-35 and just 30 minutes south of I-40, Purcell allows for easy access to shipping and points-of-destination throughout the country.

A Quality Lifestyle

With a variety of annual celebrations featuring music, food and fun, an active library system, a hospital and doctors' complex which offers comprehensive local healthcare and many other local attractions, Purcell offers a full plate of food for the soul.
