

Currently our High School has all computers filtered except for 24 that are in a lab. This decision was made due to the fact that students were unable to access the needed information with the filter in place. On these unfiltered computers we have a monitoring software (Altiris Vision) in place. We can visually view what is showing on each computer screen. We hope that in the Children's Internet Protection Act this monitoring software will be an option to the filter. This has worked out super and I would hate for students not to be able to locate needed information due to a filter. Please make "monitoring software" an option to the filter. Thank you.
