Petition for Enforcement of International Settlements Benchmarks Rates

IB Docket No. 96-261

AT&T Corporation ("AT&T") and its affiliates Concert Global Networks USA L.L.C. and Concert Global Network Services Ltd. ("Concert"); and WorldCom, Inc. have filed a joint petition requesting that the Commission enforce its benchmark settlement rate of 15¢ per minute as required by the Commission's *Benchmarks Order*¹ for service on the U.S.-Qatar route.

As the Commission has stated on numerous occasions, above-cost accounting rates harm U.S. consumers and may result in market distortions. The Commission adopted the Benchmarks Order to ensure that U.S. consumers pay reasonable rates for international communications service and to reduce the distortions that may result from above-cost accounting rates. The Order establishes a set of benchmark settlement rates and requires U.S. international facilities-based carriers to negotiate settlement rates that comply with the benchmark rates according to a transition schedule. The benchmark settlement rates and the transition schedule for the rates depend primarily upon countries' income per capita levels. For carriers in countries classified as upper income countries, which includes Qatar, the Order requires that a settlement rate that does not exceed 15¢ per minute will be used to conduct revenue settlements on service provided with the United States beginning on January 1, 1999.

In their joint petition, AT&T and WorldCom state that they have attempted to negotiate settlement rates that comply with the Benchmarks Order with the carrier that provides international service in Qatar, Qatar Telecom ("Q-tel"). Despite their best efforts, they have been unsuccessful in reaching agreements with Q-tel that comply with the Commission's benchmark settlement rate of 15¢ per minute. Therefore, AT&T and WorldCom request that the Commission enforce its Benchmarks Order by requiring no U.S. carrier pay a settlement rate that exceeds 15¢ for service with Qatar beginning on January 1, 1999.
