Docket #: CS 97-80

When you question the MPAA re the new standards they propose for encryption of their movies, please be aware that what the propose will obsolete every(including the latest digital high definition models ) television and set top box currently made. The new equipment required to view movies will NOT connect to the analog inputs on any tv which exists today. Also no one will be able to record anything even for home use without their permission and a new $charge. Unless Congress does something to stop this ,consumers will scream bloody murder and blame you for not protecting them. No body likes the MPAA(Motion Picture Association of America)so it's a win win situation to go to bat for consumers.
