PETITION FOR RECONSIDERATION

Sacred Heart University, Inc. ("SHU"), by its counsel, hereby submits a Petition for Reconsideration pursuant to Section 1.429 of the Commission's Rules, of the Report and Order ("RO&O"), DA 01-1735 released July 20, 2001 in the above captioned proceeding.<sup>1</sup> The RO&O adopted the Counterproposal of State University of New York ("SUNY") and allotted Channel *273A to Rhinebeck, New York and substituted Channel 255A for Channel 273A at Rosendale, New York. The RO&O denied the Petition of SHU to allot Channel *277A at North Canaan, Connecticut which included the substitution of Channel 255A for Channel 273A at Rosendale, New York. As will be explained herein, the SUNY proposal is defective and should not have been adopted. In addition, North Canaan should be preferred for a first local service. In support hereof, SHU states as follows:

1. The Petition for Reconsideration is timely filed within 30 days of the publication of the R&O in the Federal Register. See 66 FR 39454 (July 31, 2001) and 1.429(d) of the Commission's Rules.

I. DEFECTIVE COUNTERPROPOSAL

1. On December 1, 1995, SHU filed a Petition for Rule Making to allot Channel *277A to North Canaan as its first local service and, inter alia, substitute Channel 255A for 273A at Rosendale. The Commission had previously allotted Channel 273A at Rosendale, New York in MM Docket 93-17<sup>2</sup> but no applications had been submitted at the time SHU filed its Petition. The NPRM in this proceeding was not issued until August 15, 1997. By then, nine applications for Channel 273A at Rosendale had been filed.<sup>3</sup> In the RO&O in this proceeding at paragraph 5 the Commission noted that “the Sacred Heart Petition for Rule Making proposing the Channel 255A substitution at Rosendale was filed prior to the filing of the Rosendale applications. In accordance with Section 73.208 of the Rules, these applicants are not entitled to have their individual transmitter site preferences protected by an earlier rule making proposal”. See Conflicts Between Applications and Petitions for Rule Making to Amend the FM Table of Allotments, 6 FCC Rcd 7346 (1991), recons. granted in part, 8 FCC Rcd 4743 (1993). That statement provided the basis for issuing the NPRM and the processing of SHU’s petition. However, SUNY’s Counterproposal was not filed earlier than the nine applications for Rosendale. Thus under Conflicts, the SUNY proposal must protect the transmitter sites of every prior filed application in order to have the Commission consider a substitute channel at Rosendale. SUNY’s proposal failed to protect these applications and failed to request a waiver of Section 73.208 of the Rules. There was no channel study for Channel 255A at Rosendale and no argument in SUNY’s pleading that Channel 255A could be substituted at

2. R&O, 10 FCC Rcd 11471 (1995), recons. denied, 11 FCC Rcd 3607 (1996) application for review denied, 12 FCC Rcd 10020 (1997).

3. The nine applications which remain pending were filed on January 11, 1996, 19 months earlier than SUNY’s proposal.

Rosendale as a part of its Counterproposal which did not protect the transmitter sites of the prior filed applications under Section 73.208 of the Commission's Rules. Instead SUNY attempted to "piggyback" on SHU's earlier filed Petition for Rule Making.

2. However, the Commission's procedural and technical rules do not permit a Counterproposal to be defective. Counterproposals must be acceptable when filed. See Detroit, Texas, et al, 13 FCC Rcd 15591 (1998). Counterproposals which adversely affect the acceptable proposals in the same proceeding can not be cured. These rules are a matter of procedural due process and fairness. The Commission has consistently refused to accept defective Counterproposals when as a result, an acceptable proposal would be denied.<sup>4</sup>

3. In Conflicts, the Commission gave a good reason for treating two proposals for an allotment differently based on when they were filed. In considering a situation where an application was filed before the close of a comment window period, if the Counterproposal is filed before the conflicting application, then the Counterproposal is protected. If the Counterproposal is filed after the application, but before the close of the Comment period, then the application is protected and the Counterproposal is given a period of time to cure. The Commission stated:

"we do not believe that this is inequitable because potential petitioners do not have to wait to the end of the comment period to file their Counterproposals. While parties may desire to file on the last day of a comment period to minimize the possibility that other Counterproposals may be filed, or other tactical reasons, they do so at a risk that an application could be filed earlier. This risk could in large part be minimized by filing a Counterproposal at the earliest possible time, rather than waiting for the comment period to expire. Indeed, rule making petitions could protect themselves by filing their proposals as initial petitions for rule making in lieu of waiting for a proceeding in which to file them as Counterproposals. We see no public interest reason to alter the rule adopted simply to preserve potential tactical ploys by petitioners. MO&O 8 FCC Rcd 4743, 4745

4. This situation is akin to that faced by the Commission in Lancaster, Wisconsin, et al., 6 FCC Rcd 6113 (1991) where in MM Docket 88-375, 4 FCC Rcd 6375 (1989), the Commission had changed the spacing requirements for Class A channels. If a petition or Counterproposal were filed before October 2, 1989, the proposal was considered under the Section 73.207 spacing requirements applicable at the time of filing. If a Counterproposal were filed after October 2, 1989, it could not "piggyback" on the original filing, but must meet the revised spacing rules. See also LaFayette, Georgia, 6 FCC Rcd 7427 (1991); Greenwood, South Carolina and Gibson, Georgia, 5 FCC Rcd 7022 (1990); Quincy, Shingle Springs, and Sutter Creek, South Carolina, 7 FCC Rcd 937 (1992).

4. SHU does not know why SUNY chose to wait until the last day for filing its Counterproposal. SHU does not mean to suggest or imply in any way that there was anything improper in its intent. However, SUNY did wait to file and must suffer the consequences. It is clear that SUNY's Counterproposal was required to have been acceptable when filed. SUNY could have filed its proposal before January 11, 1996. It chose to wait and, as a result, took the risk that Commission rules or circumstances surrounding a case would change in a way which adversely affected the acceptability of its proposal. In fact, the nine Rosendale applications were filed, rendering SUNY's later-filed Counterproposal defective.

II. RHINEBECK VILLAGE

5. In its Counterproposal, SUNY requests that the Commission allot Channel *273A to the Town of Rhinebeck and community indicia was shown for that geographic entity. However, SUNY used the wrong community entity. New York State uses the term "Town" to define a larger subdivision in a county. See attached Census information in Exhibit A. There is also the Village of Rhinebeck, which has all of the indicia of a community including its own local government, business and cultural and civic activities. See Exhibit A. The 2000 U.S. Census population of the Village of Rhinebeck is 3,077 persons. SHU asserts that the proper community to be considered here is the Village of Rhinebeck. A review of SUNY's Counterproposal reveals no supporting documents to demonstrate the relationship between the Village and the Town. The burden was on SUNY to demonstrate that the Town was the proper community entity in this instance and it did not properly do so.

6. Comparing the Village of Rhinebeck (population 3,077) to North Canaan, Connecticut (2000 Census population of 3,350), North Canaan should be preferred for a first local service under the priorities set forth in Revision of FM Assignment Policies and Procedures 90 FCC 2d 88 (1982). See Exhibit B. See also West Liberty and Richwood, Ohio, 6 FC Rcd 6068 (1991) and cases cited in paragraph 4 of the RO&O.

7. Accordingly, SHU believes that the Commission can not ignore its own strict procedural and technical rules or waive them in this instance. Such treatment would create a precedent which could open the opportunity for any defective Counterproposal to be processed regardless of the impact on other acceptable proposals. In addition, North Canaan is larger than Rhinebeck and should receive the allotment. Thus, the Commission must dismiss SUNY's Counterproposal as defective when filed and reconsider SHU's petition for a first local service at North Canaan, Connecticut, with channel substitutions at Sharon, Connecticut and Rosendale, New York.

Village Life ...

Rhinebeck is one of the few remaining villages in the Mid-Hudson region. People can and do walk to school, church, the market, the hospital, restaurants or just to town to sit on a bench and watch the traffic and tourists. During warm weather youngsters, oldsters and tourists vie for space on the benches especially after school is out. Sundays it's a pleasure to wander over to the farmer's market to check out the produce, see who else is there, and lust after the pasteries.

Most houses in the Historic District have porches but not many are used these days. Some folks do, to read the paper, a book, or just to watch the traffic go by and to wave to whomever. Television and automobiles seem to have made porches obsolete even though many new homes once again have them. Are they ever used? Just for decoration perhaps?

Not much in the way of work here. Hasn't been for years. The estates, directly or indirectly, were once the primary employers. Also we once were the "violet capitol" of the world and many back yards sported one or more greenhouses. In more modern times The IBM (as the Old Man called it) provided employment for the region and many worked either in Poughkeepsie or across the river in Kingston.

The people of Rhinebeck are an interesting mixture of long time natives with roots back to colonial times, transient professionals (some who stay), retirees, weekenders and summer people. The natives descend either from the original landed gentry or their tenants.

Rhinebeck, NY exists within Dutchess County and is comprised of two governmental jurisdictions: The Town of Rhinebeck and The Village of Rhinebeck. The village is surrounded by the town and is part of the town. Town residents who live outside the village are citizens only of the town. Residents of the village are citizens of both the town and village.

The Town and Village of Rhinebeck each has its own government.

The village government governs and provides services for just the village. Its offices are located at 76 Market Street (NY Rt. 308) one block from the center of the village. Village offices share the building firehouse and have an entrance on the Center Street (east) side of the building.

The town government governs just the town while providing services for the town, some of which are provided for the village. Town hall is located at 80 East Market Street (NY Rt. 308) just east of village.

Midhudsoncentral.com is a "portal" site designed to give our viewers easy access to the Web sites of the Journal Register Company's publications in the Mid-Hudson River Valley of New York. The daily newspaper serving this area is the Daily Freeman (Kingston). Weekly publications are the Gazette Advertiser (Rhinebeck), Harlem Valley Times, Hyde Park Townsman, Millbrook Round Table, Register Herald (Pine Plains), The Voice Ledger, Pawling News Chronicle and the Putnam County Courier. Also published in this region are Weekend magazine and the Hudson Valley Guide. These publications cover communities throughout the valley, among them, Woodstock, Saugerties, Red Hook, New Paltz, Ellenville, Rhinebeck, Catskill, Pine Plains, Germantown, Amenia and High Falls, among many others.

One of the great advantages of midhudsoncentral.com is the opportunity for viewers to access the collective classified sections of our publications. This aggregated classified ad database is one of the largest offerings in the region. Viewers are sure to find what they need at midhudsoncentral.com's classified section.

Also on midhudsoncentral.com, viewers can access our online Business Directory (Yellow Pages) which lists every local business and commercial operation in the region. You can also print out directions and maps to any of these businesses or, better yet, get directions and a map from any U.S. location to any other U.S. location.

In addition to our collective classified ad database and our comprehensive Business Directory, we publish the top local stories, features and pictures from our publications, with emphasis on community news and sports.

Midhudsoncentral.com is a product of the Journal Register Company. JRC is a leading U.S. newspaper publishing company, headquartered in Trenton, N.J., that owns 25 daily newspapers and 200 non-daily publications. All of the company's operations are strategically clustered in seven geographic areas: Philadelphia and surrounding areas, Connecticut, Ohio, the greater St. Louis area, central New England, and the Capital District and Mid-Hudson regions of New York. JRC currently operates 69 individual Web sites, all of which can be accessed at journalregister.com.

This is just the beginning! Our plans are to evolve

This is just the beginning! Our plans are to evolve midhudsoncentral.com to become an indispensable source of useful and reliable community news and information for the people of our region. We are interested in what you have to say about this site, so please let us know. We hope you will come back often.

Walking Tour of Rhinebeck Village

Rhinebeck is a beautiful, historic area nestled in the lush Dutchess County, in the scenic Hudson River Valley.

With 437 sites listed on the National Historic Register one of the largest historic districts in the United States eight miles of an area known as The Sixteen Mile Historic composed of thirty contiguous riverfront estates associated with the Hudson Valley during the eighteenth, nineteenth and early twentieth Rhinebeck was founded in 1686 as a result of a significant land transaction between four Dutchmen and six Indians of the Esopus (Kingston) and tribes. The Dutch settlers, Gerrit Artsen, Arie Roosa, Jan Elting and relatives residing in the area today. The Dutch settlers called their colony and it was not until 1713 that the name "Ryn Beck" appeared as a result of Henry Beekman's reference to his accumulating landholdings.

The Beekman Arms, built by Arent Traphagen, is a charming country inn that has been welcoming travelers since it opened in 1766 and is now the oldest inn in America. "The Arms" retains a great deal of its eighteenth-century character inside, where some original structural features can still be seen. It has many cozy inns and bed and breakfasts to suit the taste and needs of visitors, making Rhinebeck the ideal base for touring the historic and picturesque Hudson River Valley.

Rhinebeck has exciting year-round events and recreational opportunities. The Rhinebeck Aerodrome is famous worldwide for its daredevil sky shows, World War I planes and museum. One can even take a ride in a biplane! The Fairgrounds host the county Fair, craft and antique shows and many other events throughout the fall season. The Center for Performing Arts, which includes the Rhinebeck Theatre Society, plus the Bard College Music Festival offer intellectual stimulation and entertainment through the seasons.

- Upstate Films shows the finest of international cinema. The surrounding area are endowed with an array of places to bike, hike, ride, sail, boat, camp, golf, swim, cross-country and alpine ski, the peaceful scenery.
- The Rhinebeck Town Landing in Rhinecliff provides waterfront launch.
- The Rhinebeck Community Center houses the Starr Library and a complex consisting of a swimming pool, tennis courts, playground.
- Wilderstein is an 1888 Queen Anne country home and 40 acres on the Hudson River. The house and trails are open to the public from Thanksgiving weekend and weekends in December.

Thanksgiving weekend and weekends in December.

Rhinebeck thrives in its service to visitors and residents, highlighted restaurants and shops. The many interesting shops and restaurants cat or whim. Many businesses are located in historic buildings.

With a history dating back over 300 years and a style of casual elegan welcomes the visitor and is sure to stay in the heart forever.
