

I think you should be allowed to keep your wireless number and switch to another vendor. This should be no different than changing your home or business phone # from ATT to MCI. There is and should be no difference!