

With regard to Kenwood "Sky Command." I agree with other amateurs that FCC regs should not be changed to allow this usage... I believe that the system is an ineffecient use of spectrum. I believe the product has merit and the "Sky Command" system should be continued, but with voice and control on the same 440 Mhz band, or through the use of a new HT transceiver that includes 220, or 900, or 1200 Mhz, where this is already allowed to occur. It is up to Kenwood to change, not the FCC rules.
