

I support the LNP. It would save time and money to switch companies and encourage competition and fair pricing.

Of course the carriers don't want it..that's because they are big business. This would be a vote for the average american