

I would like to see Portability (ability to keep same telephone number) in cell phone industry. This lack of portability leads to deminished service and competition in this industry. I personally have experienced ambililence which I belive would be helped by making this service available to cell users as it has been in land lines for years.

J. W. O'Donnell