

I would like to have the same ability with my cell phone number that I have with my home phone number. Although I currently have Verizon, if I am ever unhappy with the service I would like the convenience of being able to keep the number that I currently have, rather than being forced to notify everyone that I have a new number.