

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

I'm a customer of Iglou, an internet carrier from Louisville, and they've just told me that you might pass a resolution shutting them out of broadband service. I want to voice my loud disagreement with this. I'm happy with their service. Until about six months ago I had AOL and their service and prices were bad and too expensive, respectively.

I also found out I was paying Microsoft for their MSN service for two years and didn't even realize I was being billed.

Please be aware that I am voicing strong support for Iglou because of their service and price.

Harold Dorn

Sincerely,

Harold Dorn
