improvements will enhance the value of their property for current use or future development.

Civic and youth organizations and faith-based groups gain as their donations of time and money will work cooperatively with others who take pride in their community.

Individuals benefit by the pride from contributing to the improvement of their village, and having focal point for community identity and activities.

Landscaping

The Village of Midlothian Volunteer Coalition's volunteers have done everything from raising funds to planting bulbs and pulling weeds. During the 1992 Visit the Village Day ground was broken for the first major project, the "pocket park" at Midlothian Middle School.

The small, roadside park has become a useful site for local civic group activities as well as a gathering spot. Several historical markers are in place there.

Other landscaping work since 1991 has included:
• 134 native trees added in the village's historical district;
• Daylily beds in the village new medians on Route 60;
• Construction of the village's east entryway;
• 100s of feet of sidewalks in the village
• The adoption of various village sites (i.e., the entryway and the Post Office) for long range development by:
The Midlothian Garden Club,
The Walton Park Women's Club, and The Salisbury Garden Club.

In 1993, Keep Virginia Beautiful designated the Village of Midlothian as one of Virginia's Best Small Communities. Since then, the community has planted hundreds of day lilies along Route 60. The VMVC continues to seek sponsors for special projects, such as benches, sidewalks, lampposts, and historical enhancements.

The Plan
The local community and business representatives, working with a landscape architect and county government representatives, developed a flexible, phased landscaping plan for the Village of Midlothian.

This innovative plan responds to the aesthetic needs of our growing community, reinforcing Midlothian's long history as a working village.

Over the last decade carefully placed flowering trees and hundreds of low-maintenance, long-flowering day lilies and flowers to enhance the beauty of the village and accent each business location have been added, but more needs to be done.

While varying according to location, the basic plan has sweeps of day lilies arranged at the base of flowering crepe myrtles in clusters of four or six.

The trees and flowers, rather than obscuring the businesses along the turnpike, frame the businesses and make them more attractive to the people who live, work, and shop in the village.

New sidewalks and streetlights installed in 2000 extend through the village encourage pedestrian traffic between businesses, historic sites, and government services. Additional sidewalks will be built at open lots are developed. Eventually, the sidewalks will create a http://www.midlothianva.org/landscaping/main_landscaping.html

safe walking and biking path linking the traditional village core with the new developments such as the Grove to south and Ivymont to the west.

Why Landscaping?
The Village of Midlothian's landscaping plan is important to our historic Virginia community by unifying our Village appearance through consistent plantings, sidewalks, and streetlights.
- The community's sense of place is not just retained, but strengthened;
- The unique character of our village is better preserved;
- The beauty of our community is enhanced through the preservation and addition of native trees and perennial flowers.

What's Next for Landscaping
- Install decorative streetlights along both sides of Route 60 from Old Buckingham/Woolridge Road to Winterfield Road. Expected total cost: $400,000. A few streetlights are currently in place.
- West entry wall. (Location and funding to be determined.)
- Completion of village sidewalks. Zoning is in place to ensure installation of sidewalks as property is developed.
- Expanding the daylily beds in the medians, and the continued planting of flowering trees throughout the village.

History in a glance

By Bettie Woodson Weaver

Midlothian, Virginia today is burgeoning upscale Chesterfield County residential and commercial community situated approximately ten miles west of Richmond on U.S. Route 60 and the Norfolk-Southern Railway. A highway historical marker states that Midlothian is probably the site of the first coal mines in the U.S.

Scattered throughout the village are remnants of the Midlothian area mines—old homes, taverns, and buildings of colliery owners and a few dwellings connected with French Huguenots, among the first European settlers in the Midlothian area.

Structures still standing on Old Buckingham Road are Trabue’s Tavern, Melrose, Haley Cole’s Free School, and the Smith-Vincent house. Fortunately, some natural landscape survives lining the roadside: day lilies, periwinkle, trumpet vines, and Queen Ann’s Lace mingle in the shade of tall cedars, hollies, oaks, hickories, and other native trees. The ancient periwinkled oak grove standing sentry over coal miners’ graves in Old Mt. Pisgah M.E. Church Cemetery is especially beautiful at the crest of Falling Creek Hill. Also at the crest of Falling Creek Hill on Route 60, stands Railey’s Hill, a frame dwelling which once housed the superintendent of the Mid-Lothian Coal Mining Company.

North on Salisbury Drive is the 1870 Midlothian Public School now a residence, the 1875 Midlothian Masonic Lodge Hall and Oak Grove, the Norfolk-Southern Railway Crossing, and nearby Etna Hill and reclaimed Etna coal pits.

South on Coalfield Road lays the stone ruins of the Grove Shaft of the Wooldridge family Mid-Lothian Coal Mining Company. The Grove Shaft buildings ruins and park create the focal point of the developing Chesterfield Park. The Midlothian Public Library and the YMCA sports complex adjoin the park property, as does J.B. Watkins Elementary School.

On U.S. Rt. 60 in the village are several landmarks: the Jewett-Bass brick store and early post office, the 19th century Jacob Baach house and its towering elm, possibly the only surviving old elm in the village. The rebuilt eighteenth/nineteenth century Wooldridge family home, surrounded by ancient sycamores, currently serves as a restaurant in the center of Sycamore Square Shopping Center.

Directly across Rt. 60 in a oak grove stand the sanctuaries and educational buildings of Winfree Memorial Baptist Church, a (congregation celebrating its 150th year.) The nearby congregations of Midlothian First...
Baptist Church, formerly Midlothian African Baptist, and Mt. Pisgah Methodist Church date to the 1840s. Other churches located close to the village are Sycamore Presbyterian, Salisbury Presbyterian, Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, and Bethel Baptist Church, formed in 1817.

Local Chesterfield County Public Schools include J.B. Watkins Elementary School, Midlothian Middle School on Rt. 60, and Midlothian High School on Charter Colony Drive. The newly constructed Midlothian branch of John Tyler Community College on Charter Colony Parkway provides for the higher educational needs of the diverse populations of western Chesterfield County and the greater region.

Numerous shopping centers and housing developments such as Salisbury, Stonehenge, Walton Park, the Grove, Four Seasons, Queensmill, Glamorgan, and Old Buckingham encompass the village. Among shopping centers are the Village Marketplace, Midlothian Station, the shops at Railey Hill, Sycamore Square, and Talbot's Corner. Shops at Chesterfield Towne Center also serve the people of Midlothian village and the surrounding area. Numerous garden and antique shops are open in or near these centers. Golf enthusiasts may play on the greens at Salisbury Country Club or Stonehenge Country Club.

With the advent of circumferential highway Rt. 288 spurring increase rapid growth, Midlothian residents, under the guidance of the Midlothian Volunteer Coalition, strive to protect the village's historic buildings and natural landscape from further commercial encroachment. Local coalition volunteers comprise a steering committee that assists in planning, funding, landscaping, preserving, protecting, and maintaining the Midlothian sidewalks and roadside. Members of the Midlothian Garden Club plant and tend the flowers gracing the handsome Rt. 60 stone entryway into the village. Plantings of crepe myrtle, dogwoods, daylilies, and various other trees and shrubs delight the traveler's eye, making the drive around Midlothian a memorable treat. --August 2001
Midlothian Volunteer Fire Department

The Midlothian Volunteer Fire Department was organized in December 1949. Incorporated by the Commonwealth of Virginia, the Department is made up today of more than 50 Volunteer Firefighters. There are two ‘sides’ of the Department—Operations and Administration. Heading the Operations side is a Volunteer District Chief, two Assistant District Chiefs and four Volunteer Captains. The Administration of the Department is headed by a Company President, Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary and Board of Directors.

The current Midlothian Fire Station at 13420 Midlothian Turnpike, Midlothian, Virginia 23113 was constructed in 1955. Funding for the building was raised by the Midlothian Volunteer Firefighters and their Ladies Auxiliary through raffles, bingo games, and donations. In order to build the station a number of Midlothian Volunteer Firefighters took out second mortgages on their own homes in order to begin the building.

The Midlothian Fire Station has been added onto five times. The last addition which included a dayroom, a physical training room, a radio/call room and a volunteer firefighter bunkroom for 12 volunteers was completed in 1993.

The Midlothian Volunteer Fire Department operates as Engine Company 5 in the Chesterfield County, Virginia Fire and Emergency Medical Services.

Midlothian Volunteer Firefighters also assist in staffing fire and EMS units at the Swift Creek fire station, Engine Company 16 located at 3030 Watercove Road, Midlothian, VA 23112. The Swift Creek Fire Station was completed in 2002.
August 1997 and currently houses one engine, one tanker and one ambulance.

Midlothian Community Profile

Small Town Appeal and Charm

Located in northwestern Chesterfield County, the community of Midlothian offers small-town appeal.

The community's center is the unincorporated Village of Midlothian. From restaurants and a diner to specialty stores and a clock repair shop, the village has a diverse business base.

In the village, which surrounds the intersection of Midlothian Turnpike and Coalfield Road, are residential neighborhoods, including Otterdale, Queensmill and Walton Park. To the east along Turnpike is a wealth of retail business, including Chesterfield Town Centre.

"Everything you need is here," said Marie Strack, a community leader in Midlothian.

Seventeen years ago, Strack visited the community for the first time.

"Just driving through, I fell in love with the village," she said. "This is the longest we have ever lived in one place."

"It's a wonderful, historic village," she added.

Midlothian owes its history to coal. The Midlothian Coal Mines are believed to be the oldest coal mines in America. The mining began in Midlothian around 1730 and didn't cease until 1923. During the Revolutionary War, coal from the Midlothian mines supplied the cannon foundry at Westham. Midlothian coal was also used to cast cannon at the Tredegar Iron Works in Richmond during the Civil War.

In 1831, the first railroad in Virginia was built from the mines to the town of Manchester. The village eventually became a commuter town because of the railroad access to Richmond.

Midlothian also claims the first paved road, in Virginia, Midlothian Turnpike.

In addition to its history, another enduring quality of Midlothian is its residents, according to Strack. "In the community became involved in its care.

Strack, community organization leader with the Village of Midlothian Volunteer Coalition and the Civic Association's civic representative to the county, said that she has come to cherish the older Midlothian, who welcomed her and her family into the community.

"I got to know these people even though I was the northerner with the funny accent," said Strack, up in Long Island, N.Y.

An ongoing effort by community leaders in Midlothian is maintaining its village's small-town appeal and making sure residential and commercial growth continue around it.

New sidewalks have been constructed along Midlothian Turnpike to make the village easier for people to navigate, and long-range plans call for sidewalks throughout the village.
Midlothian's 11,000 population is expected to increase to 14,500 by 2005, challenging the count growth while preserving the community's charm.

Midlothian has two elementary schools, one middle school and one high school. John Tyler Cor College has located a campus south of the village. Other public facilities include the Midlothian Library.

Midlothian has nine neighborhood associations and several active civic organizations, such as the Midlothian Volunteer Coalition.

As Midlothian continues to grow, residents such as Strack will continue to work to maintain the identity built by history and the generations of residents who have called Midlothian home.

"I think Midlothian is just a wonderful area," Strack said.
Midlothian Community

Background Information

The Midlothian community is located in the northwestern part of the County. It includes the unincorporated village of Midlothian and the surrounding residential community. Midlothian started as a settlement in the 1700's. Coal was the basis of the Midlothian area until the late 1800's when mining declined. Later attempts to reopen mines were unsuccessful and the village became a commuter town (due to access of rail to Richmond). Large-scale residential growth came to Midlothian beginning in the 1950's. Today, Midlothian is one of the County's fastest growing communities. It is home to many residential neighborhoods, such as Queensmill, Walton Park and Otterdale. It is also home to retail along Midlothian Turnpike. The average year built for a single family home in Midlothian is 1987, compared to a County average of 1980.

Midlothian Community Analysis

Population:

The estimated 1998 population for the Midlothian community was 11,000. The projected 2005 population is 14,500. This gives Midlothian a projected growth rate of 31.8%, making it one of the fastest growing communities in the County.

Home values:

The average assessment for a single family home in 1998 in the Midlothian community was $13,000. The average yearly increase is consistent with the County wide average; the average yearly increase in Midlothian was 3.12% per year, compared to 3.19% Countywide.

Stability:

Owner occupancy for single family homes in Midlothian is higher than average. The five year average occupancy rate for 1994-1998 was 95% in Midlothian and 90% Countywide. Turnover in Midlothian is slightly higher than the County average, averaging 6.6% per year, compared to 5.8% Countywide. Midlothian has approximately 440 apartments.

Organization:

Midlothian has nine known neighborhood organizations. It also has a few organizations that address community wide concerns and issues. However, these organizations are not as broad as the county councils.

Safety:

Per capita ratios for Part I Crime and calls for service in Midlothian are somewhat lower than County averages for 1998. The per capita rate for Part I Crimes was .02 in Midlothian, compared to .03 Countywide. The per capita call for service rate was .35 in Midlothian, compared to .46 Countywide.

Maintenance and Reinvestment:

Midlothian had lower building code violations, with only three violations in 1998, compared to a County average of seven per community. There were 25 zoning code violations in Midlothian, which is slightly lower than the County's average of 30 violations per community. Renovations to single family homes occurred at a greater rate in Midlothian than in the County. Average expenditures on renovations to single family homes was $466 in Midlothian in 1998, compared to $321 Countywide.

Midlothian Community Background

Midlothian Community Summary
Midlothian Community Summary

Challenges:

- Given the growth and change in Midlothian, combined with higher than average turnover need for a community council organization is great. Without citizens working together, it may lose some of the identity citizens have struggled to maintain.

Strengths:

- The Midlothian community has higher than average statistics for reinvestment to single family homes. Given the average age of a single family home in Midlothian, this average is excellent.

How to nominate a community groups for recognition on MidlothianVA.org

The Village of Midlothian Volunteer Coalition steering committee wishes to compile a list of the leading civic organizations that contribute so much to the overall welfare of our community. Our goal is to help these important groups help our community.

The VMVC welcomes additional nominations from the community to this listing. You do not have to be a member of the group to submit a listing. Please use this form to guide you in nominating any group you believe deserves recognition. The more details provided, the more useful our web site will be to our community.

All listings and links on our web site are done by the firm selected by VMVC and must conform to the standards set by the VMVC. Organizations represented on the web site are responsible for keeping the information current and complete. The Village of Midlothian Volunteer Coalition's executive committee reserves the right to reject or remove any link or listing at its discretion. There is no charge for a standard recognition or link, although VMVC may impose a fee for "special requests."

Thank you for your interest and input. If you have questions or suggestions, please call 804-751-5006 (Voice-Tel Message Service) and leave a message, or email community@MidlothianVA.org

Midlothian High School was located on Route 60 in the village of Midlothian about 8 miles west of Richmond. The community, which is the home of the first coal mines in the United States, was probably named by miners from the shire of Midlothian in Scotland. The high school became accredited in 1923, and there were three graduates in the class that year. Until September, 1966, Midlothian High School included grades one through twelve. The school is accredited by both the State Department of Education and the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. A new high school located at 401 Charter Colony Parkway opened for the 1984-85 school year, leaving the original Midlothian High School to become Midlothian Middle School. Through growth and flexibility, Midlothian is striving to meet the changing needs of the youth it serves.

Homecoming: Sponsored by the SCA, Homecoming consists of a week of spirit-filled activities highlighted by the presentation of the queen and her court at the Homecoming game on Friday night. A Homecoming Dance is held on Saturday night.
Yearbook Signing Party: The yearbook staff plans an evening where http://www.chesterfield.k12.va.us/Schools/Midlothian_HS/about.htm 6/18/2002 graduating seniors have an opportunity to pick up their yearbook and visit with friends prior to departing for college.

Ring Ceremony: A new tradition at Midlothian, this is the occasion for the juniors to receive their class rings.

Junior-Senior Prom: The juniors pool their creativity and talents to produce the social event of the year.

Post Prom Party: The goal of the Post Prom Party is to insure a drug-free/alcohol-free prom night. This party is open to juniors, seniors, and prom attendees. It is the result of the parent/community group that sponsors and funds this activity.

Senior Class Night: This evening is a culmination of the seniors' four years of high school. It includes the announcement of scholarships and senior class superlatives. The evening also includes the recitation of the class history intermingled with individual displays of senior talent.

Just Because Week: This week takes place in the spring. Students may wear a hat, pajamas, or college paraphernalia on any given day during this special week. Why? Just Because!

J. B. Watkins Elementary School is situated in the midst of a large wooded tract on Coalfield Road in Midlothian, Virginia. The school opened in the fall of 1966 and is in its 32nd year of operation. In the fall of 1970, a six-room round building was completed to house the kindergarten, and in 1978 an addition with sixteen rooms was added. The renovated library and new gymnasium was completed in the fall of 1992. The school was named in honor of John Benjamin Watkins (1855-1931), founder of Watkins Nursery. Mr. Watkins was a member of the Board of Visitors and Rector of V.P.I. for a number of years. He was also a Virginia State Senator from 1904-1912 and from 1927-1931.

NEWS RELEASE
3/13/02
Work is progressing on the Mid-Lothian Mines Park.

MISSION STATEMENT
The mission of the Mid-Lothian Mines & Rail Roads Foundation is to provide educational, cultural and recreational opportunities through the preservation, reconstruction and interpretation of the historic coal mining and railroad sites in and around the Village of Midlothian. Initially, the focus will be on the existing Mid-Lothian Mines Park, which has been donated to the County of Chesterfield.

ORGANIZATION
The Foundation will be organized as a Virginia non-stock corporation to pursue the aforesaid mission and only engage in activities that fall within Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. The operations of the Foundation will be controlled by its officers and directors. The Bylaws of the Foundation will set the date of the annual directors' meeting. The directors may take actions by meeting or by unanimous written consent. Committees will be formed by the Foundation to enlist volunteers in the aggressive pursuit of our mission.
CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I, Lisa M. Balzer, a secretary in the law firm of Shook, Hardy and Bacon, do hereby certify that I have on this 28th day of June, 2002 caused to be mailed by first class mail, postage prepaid, copies of the foregoing "PETITION FOR RULE MAKING" to the following:
