Local Area 911 ImplementationList all individual local areas covered by this report (e.g., Lee County, Virginia):
Hardy County, West Virginia

For each area listed above, identify the emergency response point to which calls are now being routed.

Currently, 911 calls are routed to the West Virginia State Police office in Hampshire County. Emergencies are responded to by that entity. The Hardy County Office of Emergency Services is in the process of building the 911 center and naming the roads and streets in the county. Once this office is ready, the 911 calls will be transitioned from the State Police to the PSAP. The anticipated date for completion of the PSAP is October 15, 2002.
