

Telemarketing calls are completely unwelcome and as well as invading my privacy they waste my time. As a solution it is proposed by the phone company that I purchase a service to block the calls. At the same time they profit from the calls and sell services and numbers to allow the calls to take place.

This should be illegal. Either an opt out list must be maintained with fines for non-compliance, with telephone companies and telemarketers footing the bill. Or a free service should be available to all householders who decide to opt out whereby telemarketing calls are blocked.

With sometimes 3 - 4 calls per night it is time something is done to stop this harassment
