

Dear Sir/Ma'am,

My comments concerning telemarketing are very simple, it consists of a list of "why's" for you to ponder.

1. Why do/should I have to pay extra for an unlisted phone number to avoid telemarketers?
2. Why do/should I have to pay to be on a "no call" list when I should not be called to begin with.
3. Why would anyone think that auto-dialers should be "ok".
4. Why are you even conducting this survey/input session when I know of no one who wants to receive unsolicited telephone calls to their home.
5. Why is it that no one has the "right" to enter your home uninvited, but we feel there is a "right" to call your home uninvited? I fail to see a significant difference.
6. Why is the telecommunications industry dictating policy to the FCC? Do you not work for all of us (Americans) as opposed to a few individuals in the telecommunications industry?
7. Why do I continue to receive calls from the same agencies that I have told time and again to remove me from their lists. This would seem like a pretty poor business decision on their part as all it serves to do is make me more angry each time, not a state of mind that is normally associated with purchasing whatever free product, special deal, limited one-time offer etc. Are these the "intelligent" business people that you are listening to when it comes to making policy?
8. Why do you have a policy dictating which hours may be used for telemarketing using the "normal" workday as a gauge? Do you realize how many of us out here don't work a "normal" workday. I shouldn't have to shut my phone off, possibly missing an emergency call from one of my children, in order to sleep during the hours I have the opportunity. I would point out that this is a definite case of "Work Hours Discrimination" and should make all concerned liable for a civil suit.

If you have not figured it out by now, my opinion on telemarketing is that it should not exist....NO TELEMARKETING, NO POLICY....makes your job a whole lot easier too, and as an added bonus, I get to sleep when I wish and for how long I wish in MY OWN HOUSE!

I am certain that you will receive many "SPAM" comments from those involved in and supporting the telemarketing industry. You may even receive many more positive than negative comments, so I repeat.....I have NEVER heard anyone say that they liked receiving telemarketing calls...NEVER, NEVER, NEVER, but have heard many complain. Get the picture?

Very Sincerely,

Christian S. Watson
