

How to deal with telemarketers.

Buy a digital answering machine. All my calls are now screened. I don't answer the telephone until the caller identifies himself. Most TM's hang up when they hear, "please leave your message". When I don't want to hear anything, (during naps, etc.) the volume is turned off the machine, and telephone is unplugged from the machine.

This requires no expensive caller ID machines.

Could anything be easier?
