

Every day when I get home from work, I have a message from some company. It starts with "We tried reaching you today regarding an important business matter", or "This is not a sales call". I never heard the rest of the messages because I immediately delete them. They must be sales calls, I cannot think of any other reason for this type of message. I don't owe anybody past due money. I have not solicited information, financial or otherwise, that would instigate this type of message. These computerized calls have to come to a stop! Of course, it's not just the messages on my machine, it's the regular sales pitches at all hours. The NYS Do Not Call Registry has helped stop many, but not all, sales calls. My life is supposed to be simple now. What, do I have to get rid of the darned telephone?
