

FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Since the enactment Indiana's Telephone Privacy law it has improved my time at home. I don't have to run to the phone every half-hour to listen to some telemarker. I can now eat my meals in peace without the phone ringing every ten minutes. I urge you not to appeal this law 02-278
I used to receive approximately as much as five to seven calls in an evening. They are very intrusive of my time and very armoring.
