

Two points: Please let the individual states determine their own laws regarding telemarketing. If you must regulate this subject, please do not make the states with such laws lessen what they have to conform with FCC standards. It really is a burden for many of us older citizens to receive unwanted calls, and it opens the door wider for scams and fraud. Please let the states which want to regulate this do so, not the Federal Government.