

I think the FCC should leave the Telemarketing privacy law alone and not try to water down its effectiveness. I have noticed a pleasurable difference in the fewer amount of telemarketing calls I have received since signing up.