

I am responding to the "Do Not Call" rule. I used to get several calls per day from telemarketers and there were so many that it was using all of the tape on my answering machine. When it did that, the phone calls that were important to me were missed because the answering machine was full of telemarketers. Since the "Do Not Call" rule is in place I do not miss my important messages. Telemarketers were calling at 9:00 p.m. at night sometimes. I like the "Do Not Call" rule and hope that the FCC keeps it in place.
