

The Indiana (Do Not Call Rule) law that was passed is the greatest thing that ever happened. We are not receiving irritating phone calls right in the middle of dinner anymore.

We used to get 3-4 calls a week during dinner, but that has stopped. On total we would receive 15-20 calls a week, all hours of the day.

We do not think the FCC should implement any proposal that would lessen the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law.

We have relatives in other states that do not have the not call law and they tell us how lucky we are to have this law in Indiana.

This is very important to the American family and their privacy.

Please take this into consideration.

Thank You,
Tom & Barbara Dennis
