

I support the effort of the FCC to adopt a national policy concerning limits to telephone solicitation, however, this policy should in no way alter the current strict policy in effect in Indiana. Before the Indiana policy was implimented we received anywhere from 2 to 8 calls a day, most during the dinner hour. Now we receive at most one or two a month.