

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would undermine or lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

Before this law went into effect, it was normal to have at least one telemarketing call per evening. I have treasured the peace the Telephone Privacy Law has brought to our home. I do not want Telemarketers to have the ability to begin making unwanted solicitation phone calls to my home again. It is very important that the law as enacted stay in place to protect the consumers from the unwanted solicitation in their homes.
