

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

The situation is already bad, and loosening the rules further would only make things worse. The FCC should be considering tightening the rules on cross-ownership, if anything, and breaking up the already-too-consolidated media companies.