

I't annoying when having messages or hang ups from teemarketers when you get home from work. Not to mention the late calls from telemarketers that interupt the time you have with family in the evenings or weekends. You should not have the right to allow people to interfer with our personel private time!