

My company has been developing streaming HDTV over the Internet, remote viewing capabilities and other video devices for several video markets including consumer HDTV and surveillance.

If the "broadcast flag" is enacted by the FCC this will kill many small companies like mine that are developing digital recording, compression and streaming technologies. It will kill innovation on a medium that is still not fully developed.

This act is unfair and attempt to lock out the smaller players who would not have the deep pocket play in this game!

Please do not enact this.

John L. Sokol
www.videotechnology.com
www.livecamservers.com