

I think this RM-10620 should be turned down. The test are so easy to pass now, and seem to be nothing but a test of memory. All that it seems one has to do is relate a question to the answer from the question pool. The test even uses the same wording and values. HOW MUCH EASIER CAN IT BE?

The ones that want this to pass are wantabe's that want something for nothing, and I can not see how this would be an asset to the amateur community.