

Service by small ISPs are needed in an area to provide educational access for children and not discriminate because of a rural location. Long distance and excessive charges is discrimination.