

To Whom it may concern,

I worked for Global Crossing for about 2 yrs. and I think it is about as dishonest as a company I've ever worked for.

How can they be allowed to cash in all the stocked options by the executive personel and not allow anyone else to cash out when they know we are going to baankrupcy.

I had all my 401 in company stock when they folded.

NOW they want to sell thier stuff to a compaaaaany that they already own part of at a rediculasly cheap price and start over with no money invested for all they took thier employees for, aand they are all running around with lots of money in thier pockets.

I think they should sell off everything to someone they are not tied to and give it back to the stock holders they repped off. Then all the upper executives should have to sell all thier properties and give that money back also. Then go to jail for a long time. That't what would happen to the ordinary people if they pulled that. I am diffently against any sale which they might try to make.
