

I want to express my concern with efforts to further deregulate the communications industry. Radio and media today are already extremely consolidated with little room for diversity and local programming. Deregulation will only result in more monopolies since small companies and townships will not be able to compete.