

Limiting the number of stations/channels one person or group can own has been very effective. It is very important that people continue to receive varied points of view from many different perspectives. If you change the law and allow a few big wheelers and dealers to own the media, we will receive a narrow perspective which is not good for democracy. I vote no change.