

As a broadcast engineer, I am appalled at the way the FCC lets the broadcast industry go so far out of control! Ownership is nuts, and as for the rules, forget it! I know, first hand how many rules are blatantly broken, with no regard or respect for the industry. Stations do what they want, and don't care about any stinking rules!

Public files? HA HA! city of license, what a joke! Power output, antenna registration? another a joke. Just look at what you have let this public trust turn into....company's who could care less about anything but the all mighty dollar. What happened to the public interest? There is none on you're part, but you make rules, not for the public as should be, but what is best for you, and corporate payoffs!
