New Community Guide/Membership Directory

ATTENTION MEMBERS!

We are excited to announce that the all-new 2003 Community Guide and Membership Directory is currently being distributed throughout the Greenwood Village area! This high quality, four-color publication contains information about Greenwood Village, demographic and statistical information for the Greenwood Village / DTC area and a Guide to Doing Business that includes web site addresses that enable you to obtain additional information from the various sources listed. The Membership Directory portion of the guide lists chamber members alphabetically, by type of business and by contact person. The other feature of the membership section is that each listing contains a 20-word description of the type of product or service offered by the business.

Approximately 15,000 copies of the publication will be distributed throughout the year. Copies will be included in relocation packets, available to financial institutions to give to business customers, included in apartment resident packages and can be picked up at Greenwood Village City Hall and at the Chamber office. The Guide will also be distributed to major employers in the area to be included in information packets for new employees.

It should also be noted that the information contained in the Membership Directory is also on the chamber's web site - www.gvchamber.com. As a benefit of membership, members will also receive direct web site and email links from their listing on the chamber's site. The chamber is working diligently to promote our members and the Community Guide and web site will provide ongoing visibility to keep your name in front of customers and prospects alike.

Unlike many projects of this type where companies come in and sell the publication and have the product produced elsewhere, this project was all done locally by chamber member businesses. The chamber contracted with M-Pact Publishing to produce the guide. Morrissey Design did the design and layout and Cottrell Printing printed the high quality publication. The chamber would like to thank these members for their hard work and commitment to the success of the project. We would also like to thank the many chamber businesses that supported the project through their purchase of advertising space. Thanks should also be extended to the City of Greenwood Village for their assistance in providing information.

Additional copies of the guide and membership directory are available and can be obtained by calling the chamber office at 303-290-9922.

Plan Ahead Now!

If you are interested in advertising in the 2004 Community Guide, contact the Chamber office to reserve space in next year's publication.

The Curtis Arts & Humanities Center is an agency of Greenwood Village under the Parks, Trails & Recreation Department. The City values the preservation and enhancement of its historic architecture and established the Curtis Arts and Humanities Center, in a renovated school house, as a visual statement of that philosophy. The original one-room structure was built circa 1914, and then was expanded to a two-room schoolhouse in 1931. In this environment, art is presented from diverse local organizations and individual artists.

The Arapahoe Library District was established in April 1966 to provide public library service to all residents of Arapahoe County, Colorado, except those living in the cities of Littleton, Englewood and Aurora. Residents of these cities are served by libraries established prior to 1966 that are funded and maintained by their respective city governments. All Arapahoe County residents, however, are free to use any of the libraries in the county. Residents can also participate in the Colorado Library Card Program, which allows them to borrow items from any participating academic, school and public library in Colorado.

The Arapahoe Library District serves a diverse and varied population covering the rural areas of Byers and Deer Trail, the cities of Bow Mar, Centennial, Cherry Hills Village, Columbine, Glendale, Greenwood Village and Sheridan, and the unincorporated areas of Arapahoe County. The Library District is also a major resource for elementary and high school students of the Littleton, Cherry Creek, Sheridan, Byers and Deer Trail School Districts, as well as those receiving private and home schooling, and students attending local colleges and universities
