

Operation of PLC has been known to cause severe interference and dis-ruption to users of the radio spectrum and operators of RF-sensitive electronic gear; i.e. audio production equipment. In as much as Internet access is currently available via several different media and formats, institution of this additional technology would not only be redundant but harmful to the interests of the general public.

Thank you.

Kenneth Maltz