

Dear FCC:

In regards to the sale of Global Crossing to ST Telemedia I urge the FCC to stop the sale and open Global Crossing for competitive Bidding by American Companies. Your office should give due consideration to the documents filed by GLOBALAXXESS. In fact, it is just one of thousands of documents and research materials and arguments hundreds of Global Crossing investors could present to you, but I think it supplies your office with ample justification for categorically REJECTING or otherwise STOPPING Global Crossing from completing the transfer of shareholders assets (the company) to buddies (ST Telemedia) of Global Crossing's founder (Winnick) because, for one, ST Telemedia is an arm of a foreign Govt.; two, it would finalize and legitimize one of the most onerous fleecing of shareholders in the history of Wall Street and capitalism; and three, it's just wrong.

We expect that you will work toward other alternatives and options, of which there are several, some reasonably favorable to at least some return of investment losses and investor trust, others merely serving to cover up for the perpetrators of the Global Crossing transfer of property and goods. It seems quiet obvious to all that selling a company that cost 10 Billion dollars to build, and still has almost 700 Million Dollars cash in the bank to a foreign company for a mere 250 Million Dollars just is not good for American investors or our Country. Global Crossing is American Built, American owned and in Americans best interest to stay that way!

Thank you, Douglas Myers
