

Monopoly by one company or agency of ANY part of the media effectively undercuts the freedom of the press and endangers every other existing medium of communication.