

The expansion of television networks and corporations should not be expanded, unless more channels are provided to the public. The percentages of local and national networks is fair. If we allocate a larger percentage to the larger corporations, small stations will suffer and the little man or womans voice will not be heard. It would also be more difficult for other networks or programs to emerge, because they would have to go through the larger companies. We need to keep a balance of power. Please leave this decision up to the public. Thankyou.
