

Further consolidation of media outlets into the hands of a few does not serve the public interest.