RE: In the Matter of the Application of Qwest Corporation for Approval of the Internetwork Calling Name Delivery Service database agreement, Transit Record Exchange Agreement to Co-Carriers (WSP-Transit USW-CLEC), and Transit Record Exchange Agreement to Co-Carriers (Wireline-Transit USW-CLEC) as Amendments to the Interconnections Agreement with Val-Ed Joint Venture, LLP
Docket No. P421,5720/IC-03-445

Dear Dr. Haar:

Interconnection agreements and amendments to interconnection agreements that are not arbitrated under §252 of the Federal Telecommunications Act of 1996 may be approved without hearing under Minn. Stat. § 216A.03, subd. 7. The Public Utilities Commission's (Commission) Order designating interconnection agreements and amendments to interconnection agreements as subject to a standing order was issued on August 25, 2000 in Docket No. P999/CI-00-634. The use of a standing order is to apply to filings submitted on or after September 1, 2000.

As required by the Commission's August 25, 2000 Order, the Department of Commerce has reviewed and analyzed the current filing. Attached is the Minnesota Department of Commerce's Checklist for processing amendments to interconnection agreements. The Checklist reflects the Department's analysis of the issues and language that the Commission has established to meet the requirements that interconnection agreements or amendments thereto not discriminate against third parties, harm the public interest or conflict with state law.

The petition was filed on:

March 27, 2003

Interconnection Agreement being Amended:

P421,5720/M-99-362 approved June 1, 1999

The Petition was filed by:

Jason D. Topp, Attorney
Qwest Corporation Law Department
200 South Fifth Street, Room 395
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402

Conditions:

The Department recommends that the Commission approve these agreements with the exception of Section 12, Dispute Resolution and Section 14 Successor/Assignment in the ICNAM amendment; Section 8, Assignment and Section 9, Dispute in the TREA-wireless amendment; and Section 8, Assignment and Section 9, Dispute in the TREA-wireline amendment. If the companies want these sections and they do not exist in the underlying agreement, they will have to negotiate an amendment that incorporates the Commission required language and submit it for Commission approval.

The Department's analysis finds that the interconnection agreement complies with the Commission's requirements except as indicated on the attached Checklist. The Department is submitting this memorandum recommending that the Commission approve the amendment to the interconnection agreement either at a Commission hearing or by way of the standing order process ordered on August 25, 2000.

6. Other Comments.

The ICNAM agreement was executed on November 11, 2000, the TREA-wireless and TREA-wireline agreements were executed on January 5, 2000 . While Qwest previously submitted them to the Department as part of its investigation into Qwest's interconnection agreement filing practices in Docket No. P421/IC-02-197, they are only now being submitted for Commission approval. Although these agreements were not the agreements that the Department chose to use as part of its complaint, this should not suggest that Commission approval of these agreements is not necessary. The agreements selected by the Department were limited for the purposes of the contested case process in Docket No. P421/IC-02-197. It is the position of the Department that Qwest has always been obligated to file this agreements.

The Minnesota Commission reviews for approval interconnection agreements in their entirety. If, however, the Commission determines that portions of these negotiated agreements are discriminatory to non-parties or are otherwise against the public interest, the Commission has the authority to reject all or part of the agreements.

In these agreement, the Department has the following concerns: Section 12, Dispute Resolution and Section 14 Successor/Assignment in the ICNAM amendment; Section 8, Assignment and Section 9, Dispute in the TREA-wireless amendment; and Section 8, Assignment and Section 9, Dispute in the TREA-wireline amendment. These amendments do not contain the Commission required language.

Company Names: Qwest Corporation and Val-Ed Joint Venture, LLP
Docket No.: P421,5720/IC-03-445

The Department believes that the Minnesota Commission should take action that will ensure that the public interest and the rights of CLECs are protected, including the contracting CLEC. Moreover, since these agreements have been and continues to be in effect, the Department believes that it would be disruptive to the CLECs if the Commission were to reject the agreements in their entirety.

The Department recommends that the Commission approve these agreements with the exception of Section 12, Dispute Resolution and Section 14 Successor/Assignment in the ICNAM amendment; Section 8, Assignment and Section 9, Dispute in the TREA-wireless amendment; and Section 8, Assignment and Section 9, Dispute in the TREA-wireline amendment. If the companies want these sections and they do not exist in the underlying agreement, they will have to negotiate an amendment that incorporates the Commission required language and submit it for Commission approval.

B. RECOMMENDATION OF THE DEPARTMENT

1. Accept the interconnection agreement/amendment.

Conditions: See Comments A.6.

2. Reject the interconnection agreement/amendment. (Not subject to the standing order.)
