This is a formal PROTEST to each of the 5 members of the Federal Communication Commission concerning the recent 4-1 vote to fine radio station WKRK a mere $27,000 for the Jan. 9, 2002 broadcast of the "Deminski & Doyle Show."

I have read an extensive transcript of this broadcast provided by the Parents Television Council and it is clear this broadcast constituted prolonged, flagrant, reckless and irresponsible indecency.

This station's license should be revoked.

I agree with FCC Commissioner Michael Copps that a fine of just $27,000 is a mere "slap on the wrist" -especially considering the vast financial assets of WKRK's corporate parents, Infinity Broadcasting and Viacom.

To these corporations, $27,000 is an insignificant amount of money and therefore no deterrent against future indecent broadcasts.

Infinity has already paid more that $1.5 million in previous FCC indecency fines, and yet its stations such as WKRK continue to spew such indecency.

This new "slap on the wrist" fine will do nothing to reduce broadcast indecency. In fact, the FCC would be giving WKRK and other stations an implicit "green light" to continue broadcasting gross indecency without fear of the consequences.

As a tax paying citizen whose interest the FCC is supposed to serve by enforcing the Federal law against broadcast indecency, I DEMAND:

That the FCC immediately convene a new hearing to consider revocation of WKRK's license;

That you vote FOR revocation of the license at such hearing;

And that each of you notify me, personally, of the action that you have taken in this case and will take in other cases of broadcast indecency to enforce the law. The days of ignoring broadcast indecency and non-enforcement of the law at the FCC must end-NOW!

Sincerely,

Joel Davis
