

I have major concerns over the issue of Broadband Over Power Line (BPL). Using the unshielded power lines for transmission will cause interference with other transmissions. There will be a problem. This technology is a great advance and represents a step in the right direction. It does need more development to prevent the excessive interference that we anticipate. We all have to be good neighbors on the spectrum.