

To the Commision:

I would like to support the proposal that would discontinue the rule of Element 1 for Amateur radio license. I'm a current Amateur operator and have a "tech" class grade license. I have used several modes of communication and I feel that requiring CW modes testing prohibits my use of the radio spectrum. No other "modes" of use require a test to use it.

If you were to discontinue this requirement it would open the ham bands to many more operators and increase sales of radio equipment that would improve the communication business economy.

I would like the Commission to take quick action on this matter. Thank you for your attention to this matter.
