EXHIBIT #1

Peninsula Communications, Inc. hereby requests a waiver of Section 74.1232(d) of the Commission's Rules to permit the rebroadcast of KGIL's signal outside of its 1 mv/v field strength contour and within the 1 mv/v contour of KQOK-FM, Kenai, Alaska.

Peninsula feels that a waiver is merited in the subject situation because the Kenai and Soldotna areas are greatly underserved, particularly by the type of programming KGIL offers, adult contemporary music. There are no stations in Soldotna and the only FM service in Kenai is provided by KQOK and its beautiful music format.

The scarcity of signals is not one that can be easily or soon remedied. The Commission has long recognized that Alaska suffers from a gross inadequacy of communications services due to its tremendous geographic area, rough terrain and dispersed population and the fact that much of the available radio spectrum has been pre-empted for use by the military. Because of these circumstances and the resulting lack of broadcast signals, the Commission has granted numerous waivers of its rules to allow service to Alaska by extraordinary means. C.F. Wrangell Radio Group, 75 FCC 2d 404 (1979).

Moreover, the inherent benefits from a new aural source of programming in this area are manifestly in the public interest and consistent with the Commission's long-standing policy of supporting the maximum number of broadcast voices in any community, including FM translators. See, Peninsula Communications, Inc., FCC 2d, 50 RR 2d 1135 (1982).

Finally, Peninsula reminds the Commission that there is ample recent precedent for the requested waiver. In Peninsula Communications, Inc., The Commission allowed the operation of an FM translator licensed to the originating station to operate beyond the 1 mv/v contour. In that case, Peninsula requested the termination of FM translator K265AG, Homer, Alaska. The translator is owned and operated by KSRM, Inc., the licensee of KQOK-FM, Kenai, Alaska. In its decision, the Commission found that KQOK-FM could operate its translator in Homer, beyond the 1 mv/v contour of KQOK-FM. The Commission denied Peninsula's request on the basis of a lack of hard evidence to demonstrate that the translator would cause a deleterious economic impact on the operation of Peninsula's Homer station, KGTL-FM. Moreover, the Commission found that a significant public interest benefit would result from a second FM service in Homer.

This is precisely the situation at hand in the subject waiver request. There is no evidence in the record that the subject translator would cause any deleterious economic harm to KQOK-FM. Moreover, the translator will provide a much needed second FM service to the Kenai area. It would be hard for the Commission to allow KQOK-FM to operate an FM translator in Peninsula's community of license, Homer, Alaska, while denying Peninsula the same opportunity to do so in Kenai inasmuch as the exact same factual situation exists in the latter community.

Wherefore, the requested waiver of Section 74.1232(d) should be granted by the Commission.
