

I support no code for General and 5 wpm for Extra class licenses in the Amateur Radio Service.

To entirely eliminate this important mode of communication from the amateur radio service leaves the licensee with no ability to communicate using this method. At times this is the only method that can establish and maintain reliable communications.

By requiring that the Extra Class operator demonstrate some skill in Morse code ensures that some will still be able to communicate in often difficult conditions.

Walt Niemczura
AH6OZ