

WDCG of Raleigh NC has supported the on-air behavior of DJs that have recently advocated aggressive action toward road bicyclists by drivers (Sept 22-23, 2003). As a frequent cyclist I find such behavior dangerous and believe that the parent company may actually be encouraging the use of such topics. Complaints to this station over this behavior have produced no apologies or admissions of serious errors by on-air staff. Please consider this incident and similar cases at Clear Channel stations in Cleveland and Houston when assessing their future licensing to operate in the "public interest".
