

I got my Novice license in 1998 with a 5wpm test when I was 7 years old. It wasn't easy, but after one failure I made it. Then I got the Technician license, and in Dec 1999 I got up to 13 wpm.

Studying for the General questions was the hardest, but finally I got my liscense in 2001. I am proud of having a General License and want to get my Extra next year, but the test is going to be hard. If you want a Ham license, it takes a work and studying, but then after it's worth it. I don't think that we should make the test easier or stop making people do CW in testing. I support this petition.

Aloha,
Krista Speroni, KR1STA
12 yrs. old