

The value of "public-access" spectrum for services like Wi-Fi cannot be calculated - the creativity of the free spectrum community is many times that of corporate users.

The largest impact of spectrum allocation in my life currently is the growing availability of public Wi-Fi hotspots. This allows me to more effectively conduct business locally and on the road.

Please consider allocating additional spectrum to public access usage - it's the most creative solution available.

Thank you,

Lenn Hann